Synopsis : Filip, an attractive young man of twenty hides his identity and works as a waiter in a luxury hotel, trying to enjoy life surrounded by luxury, women and friends. But pleasure can also be derived from vengeance, especially when survival is uncertain. This very current study of identity and wartime trauma poses unsettling questions about the limits of human resilience and the price of salvation.

Director's Biography : Michal Kwiecinski is one of the most experienced Polish film producers, also the director and founder of Akson Studio. He directed films and television series namely White Dress, Statyci, Jutro idziemy do kina, Bodo and Milosc jest wszystkim. Graduated from the Academy of Dramatic Art in Warsaw, Kwiecinski was awarded the Knight's Cross of the Order of Polonia Restituta and the Medal for Merit to Culture - Gloria Artis. He is also a member of the European Film Academy.
